

VIRTUAL WORKSPACE

Technological innovations are happening so fast that the way people work is transforming before their eyes. Cloud and mobility have brought new technologies into the workplace, creating new requirements for the IT department and causing them to rethink current tools and processes. At the same time, they have been tasked with reducing in-house infrastructure, tightening security, providing better application support and identifying ways that technology can increase employee productivity.

DELIVER THE DESKTOP EXPERIENCE - VIRTUALLY

To support your workforce, Micro Strategies has developed a solution that moves your end users from the traditional desktop model to a more fluid virtual workspace – one that accommodates mobility, the use of different devices and the quick delivery of new applications or operating systems. Our virtual workspace solution provides easy access and a consistent user experience regardless of the device being used. In addition, virtual desktops provide a more secure environment, increased compliance and simplified patch management and remediation.
